Dashon Spate

3-22-2026

Exercise 5

The three apps I identified that truckers might use are Transflo, Trucker Path, and hammer.

The first app I will be talking about is called Transflo. I have a few friends who are truckers, so I asked one which apps he uses and this was the first one he mentioned. His use of it included signing in to trucks, doing pre-trips, the process by which truckers check over their tractor and trailer before the trip itself, as well as using it as a GPS. The app is free and available on both android and IOS as well as offers in-app purchases.

The second app I will be talking about is Trucker Path. According to the aforementioned friend this one he uses to show weigh stations, rest stops, proper routes for clearance and for spots with cameras, never can have too much security. Trucker Path is free and available for both android and IOS as well as offers in-app purchases.

The last app I found was called Hammer. This looks to be just a GPS app for truckers. This is not one that was mentioned by my friend so I had to find this one on my own. Given what the other two apps he mentioned does, compared to this one I'm not surprised this one is not at the top of his list. Seems a bit barebones in comparison to the others at least by what I'm seeing. Hammer is free and available on both android and IOS as well as offers in-app purchases.

https://www.transflo.com/

https://truckerpath.com/

https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=com.truckersreport.hammer